RED CROSS RED CRESCENT STATUTORY MEETINGS

● Introduction

This Engagement Guide outlines the major steps of the preparatory process and contains practical tips for governments and State representatives to be well prepared and contribute to the successful outcomes of the 33rd International Conference. As one of the leading global humanitarian platforms, the International Conference aims to bring together the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement components together with States parties to the Geneva Conventions and other humanitarian actors. In order for the International Conference to reflect current and emerging humanitarian concerns, we strongly urge you to engage in Conference preparations at an early stage.

● Preparation: It starts now!

The preparatory process consists of consultations with the members of the Conference, and is crucial for the success of the Conference in order to bring key humanitarian concerns from a local level to the global platform of the Conference. The more governments and State representatives are engaged in defining the decisions and discussions, the more relevant the content and outcomes will be. The crucial phases of consultations are as follows:

- Consultation on the concept note and agenda:
 - Feedback on the concept note, by 12 October 2018
 - Outline of agenda expected in December 2018
 - Mailing of provisional agenda and program (early June 2019)
- Consultation on resolutions:
 - Sharing elements of resolutions, receiving inputs (March/April 2019)
 - Sharing the zero draft resolutions with background documents; receiving inputs with concrete language proposals (May/June 2019)
 - Joint preparatory meeting on draft resolutions (June/July 2019)
 - Sharing the official documents (Oct 2019, 45 days prior to Conference), i.e. progress reports, outlines of the Commissions etc.
- Consultation on pledges:
 - Pledges to be discussed and agreed, and model pledges put forward on specific topics (Jan-Dec 2019)

● Key events and consultations to engage in:

- Webinars: These aim to increase engagement and clarify questions. The webinars deliver relevant guidance on the Conference and the topics of the agenda.
- Briefings for Representatives of Permanent Missions: These aim to ensure the sharing of information and as a platform for exchange. For States who do not have a representation in Geneva, briefings will be likely organized in New York.
- Ambassadors are warmly invited to attend the regular meetings of the open-ended Group of Ambassadors.
- Bilateral meetings between States, National Societies and the Conference organizers are encouraged, particularly for Permanent Missions based in Geneva.

Let us know how we can support you in the preparation for the Conference!

- The resolutions are limited in number and should be focused, concise and provide for meaningful and measurable impact. By adopting a resolution, governments and the Movement components make clear commitments.
- The Conference endeavors to adopt the resolutions by consensus; if no consensus is reached, a vote shall be taken in accordance with the Rules of Procedure.

● What can resolutions achieve?

- Increased government awareness and support for humanitarian activities, and the work of the Red Cross and Red Crescent.
- Create opportunities for dialogue on policies and humanitarian issues important to the mission of National Societies, ICRC and IFRC.
- Establish agreements on new policies, legislation and regulations.

● How can you contribute to their development?

- Ensure that your government has a position on the subject-matter according to your country's experience.
- Discuss with your National Society in order to understand how it may be able to support the resolutions and their implementation.
- Understand any current limitations to progress on the thematic area of proposed resolutions, and how to overcome these limitations.
- Contribute (if, and where possible, together with your respective National Society) to the development of progress reports on previous resolutions adopted by the Conference.

● What are the expected outcomes and how can you use them as an effective humanitarian diplomacy tool?

Resolutions:

- Resolutions are the instrument through which decisions are adopted at the International Conference. They are consulted upon in the months leading up to the International Conference and shall be negotiated among the Conference members in the Drafting Committee.

Pledges: You are encouraged to make voluntary humanitarian commitments, known as 'pledges'.

- Pledges cover specific, measurable actions that address humanitarian needs in a national or regional context. They may include actions to implement the Conference resolutions and/or other priorities not necessarily linked to a resolution.
- Pledges are a powerful tool of humanitarian diplomacy and can be used to initiate or advance dialogue with public authorities and other humanitarian partners before, during, and after the Conference.
- Joint pledges amongst National Societies, governments and other humanitarian actors provide a mechanism to set out joint plans, actions and commitments.
- Conference members are requested to report on pledges made and signed at the 32nd International Conference in 2015. Reporting should be done through the online platform with pre-assigned user accounts. Contact us in case you do not have an account yet.

For further information on pledges, types of pledges and their processes, please visit our website.

● Why work with your National Society?

- Where National Societies and governments wish to develop a pledge together, it is recommended that they begin discussions well in advance to identify topics of mutual interest and concern and agree on the specific commitments they will jointly undertake.
- This dialogue continues during the Conference and beyond, as National Societies and governments work together to implement, monitor and review the progress on the implementation of the pledge(s).
- This process facilitates cooperation and builds the existing relationship between a government and its National Society.

 National Societies and States are strongly encouraged to make joint pledges.

● How to develop effective pledges?

- Engage at an early stage and take into consideration the themes of the Conference. Reflect on specific issues you would like to address in the form of voluntary pledges.
- Submit individual or jointly prepared "specific" pledges, or sign "open" pledges.
- Specific pledges should be submitted online in any of the official working languages of the Conference (English, French, Spanish, and Arabic). Have a look at our model/example pledges, available on the pledge database of our website in all four languages.
- Petition-style "open pledges" should be initiated through the pledge database, where the initiator can indicate that the pledge is open for signature by any other Conference participant. All open pledges available for signature are visible to all Conference participants on the pledge database.
- Continue to raise awareness and find partners to join your cause!

● Other outcomes?

To ensure that the most pressing and emerging humanitarian concerns are properly addressed, other outcomes may result from the International Conference. We would like to hear from you about other possible outcomes: please feel free to share your ideas and proposals!
